

FASCINATING FIND

HOSPITAL BOILERS

These firetube boilers which operated at the Gympie Hospital until around the late '70s are now stored at the museum adjacent to Brisbane Road. They have been moved to make room for some exciting new developments at the museum.

Fuelled with cordwood the boilers provided steam for a pair of Bellis and Morcom AC generator sets for emergency power, and the hospital's supply of hot water and steam.

The B & M engines are stored in the stamper shed, and one day they might be steamed up with the boilers again.