ROAD ROLLER

Imperial road rollers were built by A.H. McDonald and Co. in Melbourne. They made the single cylinder Brons principle pre-chamber "Super Diesel" engines under licence. This machine from the 1930's or 40's is on loan from Melanda and Glen Big.

It will come back to life, along with another roller, a mine dump truck, the old bus, and lots of other old machines at the Australia Day celebrations at the mining museum.
