

FASCINATING FIND

POTATO MASHER

This potato masher or ricer was manufactured by Archibald Kenrick and Sons in England.

It is constructed of cast iron and sheet steel, and dates from the late 1800s.

The same design is still used today, but in stainless steel.

It was donated by Allan Robinson and can be viewed in the house alongside other kitchenalia.