AMPRO PROJECTOR

This 16mm precision projector was manufactured by the Ampro Corporation in the US in the 1950s. Used in small theatres, it utilises a four valve amplifier to reproduce the soundtrack.

It is on display in the museum House, with our large collection of other photographic and cinema equipment. There is also a couple of large 35mm projectors displayed in the radio room.

This projector was recently used as a prop for the Heart of Gold Film Festival promo video.
