

FASCINATING FIND

BOOK TROLLEY

This fascinating find is not part of the museum collection, yet.

It appears to be a library book trolley which was adrift in the swollen Mary River at the museum on Brisbane Road.

A volunteer (on leave from the Army) helping to move some museum exhibits to higher ground, saw it and rescued it from the floodwaters.

The trolley is solid timber on large castors, with a "I Love TAM" scratched into one end.

It is drying out in the tank awaiting a reunion with its owner. Otherwise we can give it a good home.

The museum will be open when the road re-opens, but some exhibits from the lower areas will remain stored on higher ground until the danger of further flooding has eased.
